As a National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) Division I program, Aztec athletic teams compete at the highest level of intercollegiate competition. All of the teams except crew, men's soccer, and water polo compete in the 9-member Mountain West Conference. Crew is a member of the Western Intercollegiate Rowing Association (WIRA); men's soccer is a member of the Pac10 Conference; and water polo is a member of the Mountain Pacific Sports Federation (MPSF).

Athletics serves a number of important roles on campus and within the larger San Diego community. In addition to encouraging student-athletes to expand their competitive capabilities to the fullest, San Diego State teams provide a catalyst which helps generate pride and a shared esprit de corps among students, faculty, staff, and alumni. This also helps link these groups from generation to generation. Similarly, with nearly a hundred-thousand alumni and former students and tens of thousands of supporters in the county with no other direct connection to the university, Aztec teams frequently carry the aspirations of San Diego in the forum of NCAA Division I Athletics. On-campus athletic events attract both students and members of the community to campus and this reinforces many mutually beneficial town-gown relationships.

The Center for Bio/Pharmaceutical and Biodevice Development

Robert Wang, Associate Director

The center focuses on education and training specifically applicable to the research, development, process development, manufacturing, and marketing of FDA regulated pharmaceutical, biologic and medical device products. Faculty and courses from departments within the Colleges of Sciences and Business Administration are integrated with the center's programs to provide students with a broad understanding of science and management issues that exist in the biomedical industry work environment. The center's programs particularly address the research and workforce needs of biotechnology companies as their initial product development projects progress from R&D into clinical research, process development, and manufacturing. The Master of Science in Regulatory Affairs was the first degree program developed and offered by the center. This program addresses overarching legal, ethical, and regulatory requirements that impact the development, manufacturing, and commercialization of biomedical products.

A second, newer Master of Science in Biomedical Quality Systems degree program is being offered by the center. With a focus on the quality aspects of development, manufacturing, and commercialization of biomedical products, it strongly complements the regulatory affairs program and the two programs share some elective courses. Both of these programs also offer a certificate to those students interested in obtaining a foundational understanding, through successfully completing four basic courses.

Internet-based, distance teaching technologies are used to make the center's education and training programs more widely available to individuals outside of the San Diego area, and this also facilitates the training of industry professionals who often find themselves traveling worldwide on company business. The center is also engaged with regional economic development and workforce development issues and the future acquisition of new training and research facilities. The center interfaces extensively with the California State University Program for Education and Research in Biotechnology (CSUPERB). The Web site is <http://interwork.sdsu.edu/cbbd/aboutus.htm>.

California State University Program for Education and Research in Biotechnology (CSUPERB)

Susan Baxter, Executive Director

The California State University Program for Education and Research in Biotechnology (CSUPERB) is based at San Diego State University. It exists to provide a coordinated and amplified development of biotechnology research and education within the university system; to foster competitiveness both on the state and national levels; to facilitate training of a sufficient number of biotechnology technicians and scientists; to catalyze technology transfer and enhance intellectual property protection; and to facilitate the acquisition and long-term maintenance of state-of-the-art biotechnology resource facilities across the university system, such as the SDSU Microchemical Core Facility, the SDSU Macromolecular Structural Analysis Resource Center, the CSU Stanislaus Confocal Microscope Core Facility, the CSU Fullerton W. M. Keck Foundation Center for Molecular Structure, and the CSU Long Beach Facility for Elemental Micro-Chemical Analysis (FEMCA). It facilitates interdisciplinary cooperative activities among the Colleges of Sciences and Engineering, the key departments on all campuses, as well as among faculty and from a number of allied academic and research units such as bioengineering, agricultural biotechnology, environmental and natural resources, molecular ecology, and marine biotechnology. It also operates a grants program of over $2 million annually for programmatic development, for joint corporate research ventures with industry, and faculty seed program for student research. It also serves as the official liaison between the CSU and industry, government, and the public arena in biotechnological matters. CSUPERB operates through an Executive Director, two Associate Directors, a Director of Operations and Workforce Development, a Strategic Planning Council composed of five corporate CEO's, five CSU deans of sciences, and ten faculty from the system. CSUPERB is overseen by the Presidents' Commission composed of five CSU campus presidents from San Diego State University, Humboldt State University, CSU East Bay, CSU Los Angeles, and Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo. Faculty input into the organization and its multiple activities is through a 100 member Biotechnology Faculty Consensus Group. The Web site is <http://www.csuchico.edu/csUPERB/>.

Center for Community Based Service-Learning (CCBSL)

The mission of the Center for Community Based Service-Learning is to enhance learning and civic responsibility through community engagement. The center serves faculty, students, and community organizations by providing a link to integrate community service programs with classwork, giving students unparalleled insight into community needs. The CCBSL is a supportive and collaborative force for the campus and the community to come together for shared endeavors and goals.

Community based learning, also known as service learning, is a form of experiential education combined with the ethic of giving back to the community. The goals of the CCBSL include assisting and supporting faculty as they make community service part of their classwork, and helping individual students and student organizations identify places where they can directly address community needs.

The CCBSL serves as a central location on campus for students, their clubs, faculty and staff to plan and implement community projects. To aid in those efforts, the CCBSL has developed several resources and services to include:

- A listing of faculty and courses involved in community-based learning;
- A listing of community activities meeting student volunteer or service needs;
- A bank of community projects suitable for faculty to include in their courses;
- A listing of grants related to community based and experiential learning;
- A resource library for research, assessment, grant writing, course design, focusing upon experiential and community based learning;
- A place for faculty and staff to meet to discuss service-learning curriculum;

The CCBSL is located in Career Services. For more information, contact the CCBSL at 619-594-0546 or <http://servicelearning.sdsu.edu>.

Children's Center

The SDSU Children's Center, a quality service provided by Associated Students, provides an enriched learning program for infants, toddlers, and preschool children of students, faculty, and staff while their parents are in class, studying, and/or at work. The academic school year program is designed to meet the needs of students and is only open the days school is in session for the fall and spring semesters. The year round program is designed to meet the needs of the working parents and is open year round. We observe all university holidays.

A grant from the State Department of Education, Child Development Division, pays all or partial child care fees for qualifying students' children. Tuition for all others is billed monthly and is determined by the child's classroom/age and contracted schedule.

The program is designed so that a variety of activities are offered that will foster the child's social, emotional, intellectual, and physical development, and help the child view himself/herself and the environment positively.

The classrooms are staffed by professional and student employees, volunteers, and child and family development majors. Parent participation is strongly encouraged and appreciated. Parents have the opportunity to serve on the Children's Center Board, which is composed of parents and other campus representatives.

Call 619-594-7941 or go to <http://www.sdsu.edu/as/child> for more information.

Developmental Writing Program

The Developmental Writing program, in the Department of Rhetoric and Writing Studies, offers assistance to all students at any university level, including bilingual and international students, who wish to improve reading and writing skills. The program's services are available on an enrollment basis only.

In addition, the program assists students in completing the university's writing competency requirement. The university requires students to demonstrate writing competency consistent with its established standards and, accordingly, requires all entering students to pass various writing competency tests. Students who do not score high enough on any of these tests must enroll in appropriate developmental writing coursework in the Department of Rhetoric and Writing Studies during their first semester at SDSU. As of fall 2001, incoming freshmen have only three consecutive academic semesters in which to complete developmental writing requirements.

General Mathematics Studies

The General Mathematics Studies program offers assistance to all students at any university level who wish to improve their mathematics skills. These services, which are available on an enrollment basis only, are designed to assist students in completing the CSU ELM and SDSU Mathematics Placement, Part IA requirements. The university requires all students to demonstrate mathematics proficiency consistent with its established standards. In particular, students who fail the ELM must enroll in the appropriate General Mathematics Studies course in their first semester at SDSU and continue until they have satisfied this requirement; students have one year only to complete this requirement.
