Application forms and additional information may be obtained from the graduate adviser in the Department of Chicana and Chicano Studies or at http://www.gau.sdsu.edu.

General Information
The Department of Chicana and Chicano Studies offers graduate study leading to the Master of Arts degree in Chicana and Chicano Studies.

The department has a distinguished faculty in the humanities and social sciences with special expertise in the U.S.-Mexican border and gender issues. The faculty’s multidisciplinary orientation encourages students to explore many theoretical approaches grounded in a community-oriented and borderlands theory and praxis.

The Master of Arts degree provides advanced training for students who plan to make the master’s degree their terminal degree as well as those who want to continue their studies at the doctoral level with an emphasis in Chicana and Chicano studies in a borderlands context.

The master’s degree also provides advanced training for those who want to pursue professional degrees in the fields of public health, education, counseling, law, and social work. The master’s degree provides students with the ability to work with professional competence in U.S.-Mexico environments involving populations of Mexican and Latin American origin in both the private and public sector. A master’s degree in Chicana and Chicano Studies at San Diego State University prepares students for a professional career in teaching by providing students with university-level teaching experience and access to community college teaching positions.

Admission to Graduate Study
The application deadlines are posted on the Web or can be obtained from the graduate adviser. All students must satisfy the general requirements for admission to the university with classified graduate standing as described in Part Two of this bulletin. In addition, students must demonstrate sufficient preparation for the program. This may include a bachelor’s degree in Chicana and Chicano Studies or a related discipline from an accredited institution or completion of equivalent academic preparation as determined by the Graduate Dean. Evaluation of a student’s transcript will be made on an individual basis by the admissions committee to determine whether evidence of sufficient preparation can be demonstrated. A student whose preparation is deemed insufficient by the admissions committee may be admitted as conditionally classified and will be required to complete specified courses in addition to the minimum of 30 units required for the degree.

The grade point average required for admission to the master’s program in Chicana and Chicano Studies is 3.0 for the last 60 units (2.85 overall) of the student’s undergraduate work plus satisfactory scores on the verbal and quantitative sections of the GRE.

Students applying for admission should electronically submit the university application available at http://www.csumentor.edu along with the $55 application fee.

All applicants must submit admissions materials separately to SDSU Graduate Admissions and to the Department of Chicana and Chicano Studies.
